To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter to recommend Continental Door Company. For years we have had issues with the man door at the back of our restaurant, which leads to the outside parking lot. We have had issues with the locks and with the door getting stuck in the closed position. We have had multiple companies come out and make repairs that only lasted for a couple of months.

We did some research and found Continental Door is now performing services on Commercial Man doors. From the first time Ryan from Continental Door was on site, we knew we were in good hands. Instead of selling us a brand new door, he recommended only replacing the parts that needed to be replaced. He assured us that when the project was done, the door would be better than new. He repaired the door, added a better hinge, added a large kick plate to the backside, changed the door closer, and added a new lock system. He even took the door off the jambs, cleaned it up, and repainted it. I would recommend this company to any business that is having issues with their man doors. Below are pictures from the project.
